PREFACE.

The past decade has been marked by a deepening and quickening of the national consciousness. Nowhere has this growth so revealed itself as in the common schools, where patriotic themes and occasions, and the study of American history receive a degree of attention never before known. Recent events in our national life have served to intensify this trend, and deeply stir the spirit of patriotism. This spirit, in turn, has found expression in new and stirring music, and has brought into renewed favor melodies of earlier days. This volume has been prepared in response to a demand for a comprehensive collection of music, old and new, devoted exclusively to the theme of Country and Home, and arranged for school use. The subdivisions of the book, as indicated in its arrangement, and recorded in the Table of Contents, show the scope of the work.

Two features distinguish the volume:

First, its plan and size. The volume is devoted entirely to Patriotic music, and it is believed that no such work of this character has thus far appeared in print. As the love of home is the natural basis of love of country, a few songs of home have been included. Music and words that are sectional in character have been carefully omitted, and it is believed that the volume in its entirety will be found in perfect consonance with the spirit of concord so happily manifest in our land.

Second, The unique arrangement of the voice parts has been made in response to the urgent demand of experienced workers in the public schools. As the tenor part, to be sung at all, must in most cases be sung—in schools—by an alto voice (boy or girl), this part has throughout the book been written in the G clef, and denominated Alto-Tenor. This is a duplication of the original tenor part, which will be found in its usual place on the bass staff.

The alto part has been written beneath the soprano or treble, as a second soprano.

Wherever needed, the music has been transposed into keys that will accommodate young voices, by avoiding high notes in the soprano part, and, on the other hand, low notes in the bass part. The range of the latter has also been restricted wherever possible.

While the majority of the choruses are in four-part harmony, a number of three-part songs prepared for the collection have been included.

That the work may meet the demand that called it forth is the wish of the compiler.

JOHN CARROLL RANDOLPH.

HAIL COLUMBIA!

Origin of Hail Columbia.—This popular National Song was written in 1798 by Judge Hopkinson. At that period a war with France was thought inevitable. Party-spirit ran high among all classes. A theatre was open in Philadelphia, and a young man who had some talent as a singer announced his benefit on its boards. He was acquainted with Judge Hopkinson and, discouraged at his prospect of success, called on him on Saturday afternoon and stated that he feared a loss instead of a benefit, but that if he could get a patriotic song adapted to the tune of "The President's March," then quite popular, he might depend on a full house. The Judge replied that he would try to furnish one. The next afternoon the young man came again, and the song was handed him. It was announced on Monday morning. In the evening the theatre was crowded to excess, and continued to be night after night through the entire season—the song being loudly encored and repeated many times during each night, the audience joining in the chorus. It was sung at night in the streets by large assemblies of citizens, including Members of Congress, and found favor with both parties, as neither could disavow its sentiments.

JOSEPH HOPKINSON,
1770-1842.

Arr. from "The President's March," by PROFESSOR PHYLA, which was first played when Washington came to New York to be inaugurated in 1789.

The first system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat) and a time signature of 2/4. It begins with a series of eighth notes in the right hand and quarter notes in the left hand. The lower staff is in bass clef with the same key signature and time signature, featuring a steady eighth-note accompaniment.

The second system of musical notation continues the piece. The upper staff features more complex rhythmic patterns, including sixteenth notes and beamed eighth notes, while the lower staff maintains its accompaniment.

The third system of musical notation shows the continuation of the melody and accompaniment.

OUR FLAG IS THERE.

This song was written by an Officer of the American Navy during the war of 1812. It being very popular, although long out of print, it was reprinted at the request of many Officers in the U. S. Navy.

New edition, edited by F. W.

1. Our Flag is there! Our Flag is there! We'll hail it with three loud huz-zas! Our

STEPHEN COLLINS FOSTER.

Moderato.

The piano introduction consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a common time signature (C). It features a melody of eighth and sixteenth notes. The lower staff is in bass clef with the same key signature and time signature, providing a harmonic accompaniment of chords and single notes.

1. Way down up - on de Swa - nee rib - ber, Far, far a - way,
 2. All round de lit - tle farm I wan - der'd When I was young;
 3. One lit - tle hut a - mong de bush - es, One dat I love,

The piano accompaniment for the first three verses is shown in two staves. The upper staff continues the melody from the introduction, and the lower staff provides the harmonic accompaniment. The music is in a simple, folk-like style.

Dere's wha' my heart is turn - ing eb - er, Dere's wha' de old folks stay.
 Den man - y hap - py days I squan - der'd, Man - y de songs I sung.

The piano accompaniment for the fourth verse is shown in two staves. The upper staff continues the melody, and the lower staff provides the harmonic accompaniment. The music is in a simple, folk-like style.

All up and down de whole cre - a - tion, Sad - ly I roam,
 When I was play - ing wid my brud - der, Hap - py was I;
 When will I see de bees a - hum - ming, All round de comb?

The piano accompaniment for the fifth verse is shown in two staves. The upper staff continues the melody, and the lower staff provides the harmonic accompaniment. The music is in a simple, folk-like style.

Still long-ing for de old plan-ta-tion, And for de old folks at home.
 Oh, take me to my kind old mud-der, Dere let me live and die.
 When will I hear de ban-jo tum-ming, Down in my good old home?

THE LAND OF WASHINGTON.

Words by GEO. P. MORRIS.

Music adapted by F. H. BROWN.

NOTE.—The melody of this song was called the "Drum and Fife March," by the Provincial army, and was a great favorite of the American troops, especially as it was played by them at the Battle of Yorktown. As the publisher is desirous of rescuing from oblivion a spirit-stirring melody, once so familiar in the American camp, it is here given anew.

1. I love the pa - triot sa - ges, Who in the days of yore, . . . In

YANKEE DOODLE.

Air unknown. Arr. by F. C.

Origin of Yankee Doodle.—The tune, which originated in France or Holland, was first sung in England to the nursery rhyme "Lucy Locket Lost her Pocket." It was soon adapted to verses sung by the Cavaliers in ridicule of Cromwell, who was said to have entered Oxford riding a small horse and wearing a single plume fastened to a knot called in derision a "macaroni." In the summer of 1755, the British army lay encamped on the east bank of the Hudson river near Albany, awaiting reinforcements of militia from the Eastern Colonies previous to marching on Ticonderoga. During the month of June these raw levies poured into camp, company after company, each man differently armed and equipped from his neighbors, and the motley whole presenting a spectacle that greatly amused the British officers. Dr. Shamburg, a joke-loving surgeon, gave the new recruits this song, gravely dedicating it to them. To the great amusement of the British the joke took. Twenty-six years later Cornwallis marched to the same tune into the lines of these same old Continentals to surrender his sword and his army.

5 And every time they fired it off
It took a horn of powder;
It made a noise like father's gun,
Only a nation louder.

6 I went as near to it myself,
As Jacob's underpinin';
And father went as near again —
I thought the deuce was in him.

7 (It scared me so, I ran the streets,
Nor stopped as I remember,
Till I got home, and safely locked
In granny's little chamber.)

8 And there I see a little keg;
Its heads were made of leather.
They knocked up with little sticks,
To call the men together.

9 And there they'd fife away like fun,
And play on corn-stalk fiddles;
And some had ribbons red as blood,
All bound around their middles.

10 The troopers too, would gallop up,
And fire right in our faces;
It scared me almost half to death,
To see them run such races.

11 Uncle Sam came there to change
Some pancakes and some onions
For 'lasses cakes to carry home
To give his wife and young ones.

12 But I can't tell you half I see,
They keep up such a smother;
So I took my hat off, made a bow,
And scampered homie to mother.
